The use of TalkTalk products is subject to the general terms and conditions and the associated fair use policy. The inclusive units apply per month and are covered by monthly subscription fees. Connections abroad and roaming use outside of the inclusive units are billed according to the rate list. When the inclusive units of national data volumes are used up, mobile data is blocked if there is no active Data Booster. The Data Booster packages are valid for 1 year for use in Switzerland and Zone 0. International packages, on the other hand, are valid for 1 year only for use in roaming areas. Unused data volumes expire after one year. Valid for countries in the respective zone.
Unless expressly stated, calls to the Talkbox, roaming and landline network text messages are excluded from the inclusive units.
